

Collaborative painting project with artist Matthew McCarthy

What? Jamaican artist Matthew McCarthy will work with a group of Bristol artists aged 16 - 25 to create a huge, collaborative painting built from participants' own personal "eye-deals" based around song lyrics.

Why? Together the group will work towards creating eye catching, compelling and memorable reminders of the power of speaking up. This work will be promoted alongside the RWA's Jamaican Pulse exhibition.

Where? Easton Community Centre, Kilburn Street, Easton, Bristol

When? Monday 20 June to Friday 1 July 10:00 – 16:30 times tbc.
(No workshop on Mon. 27 June)

Friday 24 June: 18:00 – 21:00 Jamaican Pulse Private View at RWA, Bristol

Young Artist's Opportunity! The RWA is looking to commission a new piece of work by a young Bristol-based artist, working in any medium, exploring issues of cultural appropriation. The work will be showcased on 6th July at the Young People's Festival of Ideas event hosted by the RWA.
