

LIVING DESIGN

We've been called landscape architects, planners, and urban designers.

Call us what you will,
but we prefer to think outside those boxes.

Do you?

We're looking for talented, innovative, and passionate designers to join our team for summer, semester, and year-long internships.

You see, for us, design is a living, breathing thing. Passion for changing lives gives it purpose. Only Living Design® can change lives and make the world a better place.

Interested? Tell us what Living Design means to you.
Contact Bonnie Roy for more information or to submit your portfolio at bonnier@swtdesign.com.

CALL FOR INTERNSHIPS

“I want to thank you for providing such a rich internship for me...”

SWT's commitment to cultivating
the next generation of practitioners was a great balance of challenge
+ support.”

- Nicole Rebeck, MLA, ASLA
Ball State University, class of 2015

Now in its 20th year, our practice has continually evolved into a true incubator for design thought, pushing the boundaries of traditional landscape architecture and infusing it with inter-disciplinary collaboration. And while we're centrally located in St. Louis, our practice is national with far reaching impacts.

As an intern, you will work closely with all members of our design team in a fast-paced, supportive environment. You will touch all milestones of a project's lifecycle, from analysis and discovery, to design and implementation. Our portfolio is diverse, so expect to see a wide range of work, from large-scale planning efforts, to site design and detailing. Your efforts will be tied directly to project deliverables, including conceptual design, preparing reports, graphic illustration, and documentation.

Required skills:

Well versed in AutoCAD, Microsoft Office, and Adobe Creative Suite

Preferred skills:

Proficiency in SketchUp, Rhino, or other 3D modeling software, as well as GIS is desired, but not required. Demonstrated design intelligence for high-level conceptual thinking.

Education Requirements:

4th or 5th year undergraduate students, or graduate students

This is a paid internship.
