APDesign Students from all disciplines are invited to participate in a design charrette to develop a master plan for a new farm training and healing center to serve the wounded soldiers and their family. SAVE (Soldier Agriculture Vocational Education) organization would like to develop a facility to assist the wounded soldiers returning from Iraq and Afghanistan war. They are committed to empowering and supporting wounded soldiers by providing a farm based vocational training and healing center. They hope to build this center in Manhattan, Kansas. The organization has identified an 80 acre farm in Keats, near Manhattan. This farm training and healing center will serve Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI), Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and severely injured amputees.

The charrette will be held at APDWest on September 21st evening at 6:30 P.M. Dinner and snacks will be provided for the participants. Students from all disciplines will work collaboratively in teams and present their conceptual design to the client on Sept. 22nd evening at 6:30 p.m.
