Message from the Book Review Editor: Call for Reviewers

As before, WEW is soliciting book reviews from our readers. Listed below are several books from June Farris’s bibliography that would be appropriate for review in the newsletter. If you are interested in one of these books, please contact me at ehemenway@luc.edu. I will then request a review copy from the publisher and send you the guidelines.

We also invite reviews of other recent books, including those from the region that may not be readily available in the U.S. If you plan to travel this summer or fall, please keep an eye out for books that your colleagues and students would like to know about. You could be our next reviewer!
