Brookside B-Team

Presents its Quarterly Luncheon Seminar

"Data Security"

Last year a couple Brookside businesses learned from the FBI that their customer data had been compromised. What would you do if the FBI showed up on your doorstep? Better yet, how do you prevent that from ever happening? Our luncheon seminar will discuss these questions.

- Do you know the rules and regulations for securing customer data?
- Is there software that a small business can use to protect its computers?
- How expensive will it be to hire a data firm?
- What should you do if your data has been breached?
- What consequences does your business face for a data breach?
- What will it cost to recover from a data breach?

Guest Speaker Britton Burton is director of Information Security Assurance for HCA's MidAmerica Division. In that role, he oversees information security operations, risk management, governance and security compliance for a division of 12 acute care facilities, 3 emergency rooms and nearly 200 outpatient clinics and surgery centers.

If you doubt this threat is real, Burton invites you to visit this website to view a Live Cyber Attack Threat Map:
