

Building Community through Oral History

A Hands-On Workshop for Towns,
Schools and Organizations

An introductory workshop for community groups interested in capturing and preserving family and local stories

Historical societies, libraries, schools, and other organizations interested in creating oral history projects should plan to attend this hands-on, one-day workshop where oral historian Jo Radner where nationally-respected oral historian and folklorist Jo Radner will guide participants through creating and implementing oral history projects, effective strategies of interviewing, and presenting community stories. Participants will leave with a repertoire of useful skills, a plan of action, and a manual for future reference.

It is recommended that each community be represented by a minimum of three participants.

Date: Saturday, May 14, 2016

Time: 9:00 am - 5:00 pm

Location: Kingston Community Library, 2 Library Lane, Kingston, NH 03845

Costs: No charge to attend workshop, but registration by April 20, 2016 is required

Details: A minimum of three individuals from each community is highly recommended; bring your own lunch or order a lunch for $6.00 (see registration form)
