Online Courses - If you are working on an online course, be sure you are keeping up and working diligently to complete it so that you are on track for graduation.

Attendance: Keep track of attendance and be sure not to exceed the limits.

NHHEAF: The New Hampshire Higher Education Assistance Foundation provides information and links to get you thinking about your post-secondary plans. Log on at www.nhheaf.org to explore your future. This is an excellent resource.

SENIORS

Credit Checks: Make sure you have the credits you need to graduate. See your Counselor if you anticipate a loss of credit due to class failure or attendance.

Naviance: Continue to update your college information including your acceptances and the school you will be attending.

JUNIORS:

Post Secondary Planning & Naviance: Get a head start on post-high school planning. Sign onto Naviance to review results of interest inventory or start your search for colleges. See your counselor for logon information or if you have any questions.

Visits: You should be visiting post-secondary programs, schools, and college to get a head start. Spend time thinking about what you would like to do after high school. Over the summer, talk to friends and family about their education and career paths.

NCAA Clearinghouse: All Juniors who may want to participate in Divisional college sports must register through the NCAA Eligibility center, www.eligibilitycenter.org. There is a cost to register. See Vicki Parady-Guay, Athletic Director, for questions.

SOPHOMORES AND FRESHMEN:

Log on at www.nhheaf.org to explore and get thinking about your future!

Greetings from Northern Essex Community College! One of the major steps a student needs to take in order to become an NECC student is to take the Accuplacer exam to assess their reading, writing, and math skills; their performance will determine what classes they will register as a student here, so we want them to do well! NECC is offering a summer course aimed at improving students' scores on this assessment test-particularly those who have already taken it and scored in the Algebra II and/or College Reading, both one level below college level. If you know students who fit this category, please consider recommending this Summer Bridge Program-it can help them score better and enable them to register for college level math and science in the Fall semester!

If you have any questions about the program, please feel free to contact Linda Murphy at lmurphy@necc.mass.edu for the Math Bridge or Trish Schade at pschade@necc.mass.edu for the Reading Bridge. We look forward to helping your students!

NH Police Cadet Training Academy to be held June 25 – July 1, 2016 at NHTI.

Annual Academy aims to help men and women ages 14-20 to overcome any challenges they may face in their future careers and hopes to build essential life skills for youth.

Manchester, NH – The New Hampshire Police Cadet Training Academy is currently accepting applications for the 2016 session. Sponsored for the past 42 years by the New Hampshire Police Association and the New Hampshire Association of Chiefs of Police, the New Hampshire Police Cadet Training Academy offers young men and women ages 14 – 20 the opportunity to experience life as a police recruit. This year, the weeklong Academy will take place at the New Hampshire Technical Institute campus in Concord, New Hampshire from June 25 – July 1.

There are three academy sessions held during the same week. The Academy starts with the Basic Class, designed for the first time Cadet and is limited to 100 applicants. The Cadet who returns for the second year attends the Advanced Academy. This is limited to thirty applicants. The third year Cadets are usually very serious about a pursuing a career in law enforcement and attends the Leadership Academy. This is limited to fifteen applicants.

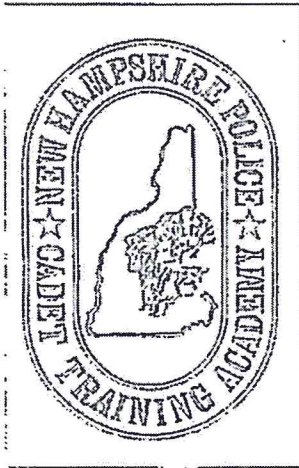

The Academy staff is police and corrections officers from New Hampshire and the United States Army, whose time is generously donated by the Chiefs, Directors and Selectmen. Training for all three class levels is conducted by the most prestigious law enforcement officials in local, county, state, and federal law enforcement, as well as professionals from business, media and academia. The training has both physical and educational demands, the classroom topics are fascinating, and the discipline is motivating. Registration deadline is June 8th, but applications are considered on a first come, first serve basis.

At the conclusion of the Academy, the staff awards two scholarships worth a total of $1,500 to students continuing their education in the law enforcement or criminal justice fields. There is funding offered by the Dunbarton Police Association, Sean Powers Memorial Fund, NH Sheriff's Association and anonymous provider for assistance for applicants who may not be able to fully afford the tuition fee.

Applications may be found on our web page at www.nhchiefsofpolice.com then click on Cadet Training Academy. On the website, you will also find a link to a segment from New Hampshire Chronicle from WMUR Channel 9, Manchester, NH. Further information can be obtained from Chief James Burroughs, Newport, NH Police Department, 863-3240 or nhpcta@nhchiefsofpolice.com, or your local Chief of Police.

May 2016

Hello

New Student

Orientation

College-Bound Freshmen: It's New Student Orientation Time!

"Student orientation," "new student orientation," "summer orientation," and "freshman orientation" - these are different names for an important multi-day event/experience typically occurring during the summer or at the beginning of the academic year at colleges and universities around the world. Orientation is a great way for campuses to welcome and, of course, orient new students to their respective college campuses. This is accomplished with fun, educational, social, and practical activities - the specifics of which will vary somewhat depending on your school.

During orientation, you will meet fellow members of the Class of 2020, explore your college's campus, meet faculty, select your class schedule for fall and maybe even meet your freshman roommate.

Help yourself get ready for college by attending your school's orientation program!

Two scholarships from the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation (NHCF) are now available! The NHCF is New Hampshire's largest source of scholarship dollars. Applications for the Career Aid for Technical Students for students enrolling in a two year degree program are due 6/15/16. The Medallion Fund - for students pursuing short-term vocational or technical studies in fields such as automotive technology, plumbing, heating, construction, advanced manufacturing, computer repair, licensed nursing assistant, etc. - features a rolling deadline.

THE COMMON APPLICATION

Juniors, Create Your Common Application Account!

Applying to college this fall? The Common Application is an online application accepted by nearly 700 colleges and universities. Participating schools accept the Common Application in place of their own institutional application. When using the Common Application, you complete one online application (and perhaps supplemental forms for each college that you are applying to) and are able to electronically send this application to all of your chosen participating colleges. Using this form is time-saving and simplifies the application process. The Common Application and a list of participating schools can be found at www.commonapp.org

You can create your Common App account now - or whenever you are ready - and it will be available for you this fall as you start to apply to college. Essay prompts will not change for the 2016-2017 application cycle.

SAT Scores Are Now Available!

High school juniors who took the March 2016 SAT can now check their scores by logging into www.collegereadiness.collegeboard.org/sat. For directions and information on how to get your scores, watch CollegeBoard's video "Understand Your SAT Score Report."

Once you have logged in to see your scores you can use these scores to enrich your college search process. You can go to BigFuture by CollegeBoard to see what SAT scores individual colleges require for admissions. CollegeBoard suggests using their SAT Converter tool to compare your "new 1600" score with the "old 2400" scores of the freshman class at your favorite colleges. To use the converter tool you can either download CollegeBoard's App called "SAT Score Converter" from Apple's App Store or Google Play (Android) or use the online converter tool.

Not happy with your score? Want to get your EBRW (Evidence-Based Reading and Writing) or M (Math) score up? CollegeBoard had partnered with Khan Academy to provide FREE personalized SAT prep. To begin the test prep process, log in to www.khanacademy.org/sat and upload your PSAT and SAT scores. Once tests are uploaded, Khan Academy can provide practice questions that target your specific area(s) of need and demonstrate how to get to the correct answer. Even 30 minutes twice a week of test prep can help!

Use Your Summer Well - Meet With a CCP counselor

Summer is the perfect time to meet with one of the counselors in the Center for College Planning. Whether you are finalizing your list of colleges, have questions about college majors or would like to discuss how to pay for college, schedule a free 60-minute appointment this summer to get a jump start on your college process.

Funding Options - Scholarships, grants, student loans, parent loans, work study, private student loans, tuition payment plans - what do they all mean? These 60-minute appointments will help you and your family to understand the many options available to pay for your college education.

College Prep - Are you interested in exploring your academic and career interests? Need help creating an appropriate list of colleges? Do you want to discuss "financial safety" schools? Do you need more information about the different college application options? Are you preparing for a college interview? For these 60-minute appointments, the CCP counselors will ask you to choose your areas of concern to address in your discussion.

Choose which type of meeting is appropriate for you and give us a call at 1.888.7.GRADUATE to schedule your appointment today.
