Surgical & Prosthetic Implant Endeavours - Hands-On Program

Hands-on

For many clinicians and their patients, dental implants are quickly becoming the preferred treatment of choice for tooth replacement. The surgical modalities of implant therapy are becoming more common in every dental office. This full-day HANDS-ON course will review surgical modalities of implant therapy such as ridge augmentation, implant surgery, bone expansion, and block grafting.

Furthermore, with the evolution of Esthetic Digital Dentistry and the introduction of IPS e.max[®] and CAD/CAM solutions on dental implants, the proper utilization of each available material is essential to the longevity of restorative dentistry. The course will review many of the single tooth restorative material options from the classic PFM to IPS e.max[®]. Materials such as titanium-porcelain restorations, zirconia-porcelain, and monolithic zirconia restorations will also be discussed.
