Beyond a Bigger Backpack... The Transition to Kindergarten

Your child is getting ready for the big step from preschool to kindergarten. Are you? Is your child feeling excited? Nervous? Are you feeling anxious? Having mixed emotions?

It's hard to think about "back to school" so early, but if your child is going to kindergarten, there are many things you can do over the coming months to ease the transition and embrace the journey together.

Whether it's your first or last child to go off to kindergarten, going to a new school and being in a bigger class, along with other changes, can present challenges. Join this interactive workshop to share and learn practical tips and fun tools to help make the transition to kindergarten easier for everyone.
