

YOU are invited!

Research Study on Food Security in the Klamath Basin

By the University of California Berkeley and the Yurok Tribe

You are invited to participate in a focus group discussion about Tribal food security in the Klamath Basin. The study is being led by Jennifer Sowerwine, UC Berkeley, in collaboration with the Karuk, Yurok, and Klamath Tribes.

Our goal is to learn from the Tribal community about challenges and opportunities for accessing healthy and affordable as well as Native foods in your community.

As a Yurok person, we need your input in this pivotal study!

We will hold focus group discussions (6 – 12 people) for adults, for youth ages 14-17, and for people who have experience using food assistance programs. Groups will be in Klamath on June 20th, Weitchpec on June 22nd and 23rd, and Pecwan on June 24th and 25th.

A meal and $30 travel compensation will be provided to focus group participants, and you will be entered into a drawing for a prize basket of local foods as a thank you for participation!

If you are Yurok and would like to share your ideas, please call
