

The image shows a banner for the MenHealth website. On the left, a man in white briefs is sitting on the floor, leaning against a wall. To his right is the MenHealth logo, which consists of a blue circle with a white cross, followed by the text "MENHEALTH" in blue. Below the logo is the tagline "Where premature ejaculation stops being a problem". In the top right corner, there is a language dropdown menu set to "English" and a small American flag icon. Below the banner, there is a text box with the following content: "Everything YOU need to know to OVERCOME this problem in TWO weeks". Below this, a paragraph reads: "If you're reading this you probably suffer from premature ejaculation (PE). If you take a couple of minutes to read this you can change your sex life forever." This is followed by a red line of text: "After reading through this site you'll have all the information and the power to fight this problem." Below that, another paragraph says: "Don't let this opportunity slip away, a little reading can make the difference between being a premature ejaculator and enjoying a healthy sex life. Believe us! You'll be thankful you took our advice, and, most importantly your partner will be thankful too." At the bottom of the text box, there is a blue rectangular area with a red "AS SEEN ON TV" logo on the left, a white cross icon in the center, and a red button with white text that says "Click Link Below" with arrows pointing down on either side.
