

"Through Calculated Nutritional Timing, We can Stop Arm Pump Completely!"

- Steve Smith, Former Australian State Motocross Champion

- Science proves that the body sends large amounts of blood into a working muscle that is producing lactic acid in an attempt to flush it out.
 - Arm pump is simply just muscles full of blood as a result of too much lactic acid production..
 - If you had less lactic acid, then less blood would need to be sent into that muscle.
 - So by minimizing lactic acid production in the forearms, consequently we will minimize large amounts of blood being sent into the forearms. Arm pump is, too much blood trapped in the forearms!
