

Many scale model builders use paper to create models. Why, you might ask?

The first answer to that would be the way it's completed. You start with a plain sheet of paper and under your hands it becomes a part of a car. The amount of time you spend on it doesn't matter much, though.

Here comes the second part of the answer. The result. Every time you look at the model you had built, you'll acknowledge how nice it looks. Nice and precious for you because it contains all your expertise, endurance and time. It contains a little part of you.

*I wish you success and many hours well spent.
