

Bing in the Classroom

Congratulations! Your child's school has enrolled in Bing in the Classroom, a free program provided by Bing

Now, searches done on the school's network are ad-free, safer, and more private.* But Bing in the Classroom also empowers parents to help get better technology in their child's school.

Help get free Microsoft Surface tablets in your school

Support your child's school simply and easily with Bing Rewards. The same searches you do every day can be earning your child's school free Surface tablets. It's easy to participate, just follow these three simple steps:

1. Sign up for Bing Rewards at www.BingRewardsSchools.com
2. Search on Bing to earn credits
3. Donate your credits to the school of your choice

Once enough credits have been donated, Microsoft will send a free Surface with a Type Cover to the school. You can check your school's progress at Bing.com/findyourschool. Join Bing Rewards at BingRewardsSchools.com to start earning credits today!

It's up to you--here are some ways to participate:

About 60 people participating in the Bing Rewards program can earn a Surface a month for a school. So get your community involved! Ask your friends and family to start donating their Bing Rewards credits to your school. Post on social media using #BingintheClassroom to encourage people to donate credits.

Together, we can get more technology into schools with the searches we already do every day.

Bing.com/classroom

*Excludes Bing Apps. Learn more at www.bing.com/classroom/FAQ#bingapps