

Dwellings

A micro house company called Dwellings located in the Nu Spark Incubator off Turner Street, is looking for highly talented interns that would like to work in a start up environment to help create a national marketing campaign for smart, little homes.

Company Mission:

Our company's mission is to provide the most creative options for living through a perfect blend of science, technology, and sustainable construction. Our vision is to create a national brand that incorporates the latest innovations from Virginia Tech. Our goal is to create a team of innovators, entrepreneurs, marketers, engineers, and designers who can help us disrupt the current housing market by providing affordable and modern Dwellings.

Candidate:

The ideal student is highly motivated, creative, and savvy with unconventional marketing strategies. Social media mediums will include Pinterest, Vine, and Snapchat. We are also looking to create a fun and meaningful culture, and would welcome the opportunity for interns to help us shape the ideal work environment.

Intern candidates can directly email or call Noel J. Thomas at their convenience, 772-631-4016.
