

Consecrated men and women choose to follow a religious lifestyle after the example of the founder of their community.

They share a common vision and mission.

Every day they make time for prayer, ministry and community.

