

This Week's Update

From Mrs. Baer

What a week! First I am happy to report that Rabbi Oxman came through surgery well and is on the mend. We expect him back in the office on March 2nd, but he is already staying in touch with everything that is going on by email and phone. He even has plans to drop in some throughout the week ahead.

Despite the ice and snow, teachers and students were busy this week planning our Curriculum Fair. The fair explores our communities past and present. I hope that everyone will come out Thursday night for what promises to be one of the highlights of our year.

On Wednesday night at 5:00pm, our third grade will present The Mask. This is a beautiful and spirited program celebrating the new Hebrew month of Adar. Please join the third graders for this wonderful program.

Finally, our STEM coach, Mr. King, is busy preparing our new 3D printer to enhance student learning and excitement in the STEM lab. Students and teachers are already excited about activities and learning in 3D that are just around the corner.

I look forward to seeing everyone at school on Monday for what I hope will be a full week of school.
