

Why Aims?

Work Force Development

Workforce development translates to a stronger Weld County. It is wise to focus efforts and investments on projects that remain in Weld County. Especially now, support for programs such as first responder training, is crucial to the health of Weld County. Aims meets this goal.

Over 75 percent of Aims students continue to work and live in the greater Greeley region following completion of their course work.

What is College Promise?

Allied Healthcare specific.

We are SO excited about the generosity of NCMC, Inc. as connected to the College Promise scholarships. Students who graduate within three years from Fort Lupton High School and enroll at Aims in allied health care course work may be considered for College Promise.

- Covers up to $2,500 in tuition/books and fees.
- As the average cost of tuition at Aims is $2,000 and most students qualify for government assistance-- the College Promise scholarship essentially allows them to go to Aims free.
- Transfer of scholarship dollars to UNC. For nursing students who complete an AAS in Nursing at Aims and intend to enroll in additional coursework for their BA in nursing—scholarship dollars will follow them.

General College Promise scholarships.

Once we have an investment from the Fort Lupton community—general College Promise scholarships are also available.
