

Green City Clean Waters

Screening + Panel Discussion

Green City Clean Waters is a documentary examining Philadelphia's plan to transform the city into an oasis of green roofs, treescapes, rain gardens, and porous pavement to make the city more livable and prettier with higher property values and better community health.

But what can you do to help? Our panel will talk on behalf of their organizations that are actively engaging students, local businesses, and residents on how they can become involved in the green stormwater infrastructure movement.

Thursday, March 20, 6:30-8 PM at CityCoHo Philly Nexus (2401 Walnut Street)
