Re: Becoming A Cash-Producing Affiliate

Dear Colleague,

Have you ever tried to put together something that came with a "some assembly required" tag attached?

I'm convinced this is some kind of trick to see just how much we really want the completed product. Surely someone somewhere is watching and having a good laugh at our expense, right?

Sidebar: These things can be nightmarish. Mainly because whoever wrote the instructions usually doesn't speak our language. And then there's the whole "not enough pictures" thing. Add in the fact that they sometimes leave out important pieces of information and you've got the makings of a frustrating experience.

My wife and I were recently putting together such an item and as we looked at all of the different nuts and bolts, as we looked at the 10 pages of instructions, as we looked at this mess in front of us, I asked a very important question...
