Code Warehouse is the most extensive professional source code snippets manager for software developers. Its users will appreciate the fact that they have full control over the source code. They can use the code, modify it, enhance it, learn from it, and can even add their own code so all their important code is in one convenient place. Code Warehouse is multi-user ready, which means that an organization's entire development team can share a central code library and benefit from code that is already written and tested. The results? Developers aren't writing code that already exists, and new developers are brought up-to-speed faster without having to hassle others on the team!
